TARGETED SUPPLEMENTATION PROGRAMS

QLF Ignite supplementation programs can improve the utilization of low-quality forage and supply additional nutrients needed to support a healthy, productive herd. QLF produces Ignite supplements that compliment a full range of diets on range or pasture settings. These supplements contain readily-available energy from sugar and can be formulated to contain 20% to 40% crude protein.

INCREASED FORAGE INTAKE & UTILIZATION

QLF Ignite cow/calf products are designed to enhance forage utilization by supplying a source of degradable protein and energy to support rumen fermentation critical for herd health, calf performance, and reproductive efficiency.

IMPROVE PASTURE UTILIZATION

QLF Ignite supplements help livestock utilize unfavorable grazing areas. Ignite supplements can be placed in underused areas of a pasture, specifically drawing cattle to these potential grazing locations. As supplements are strategically moved during a grazing season, cattle may shift their routine travel patterns. This reduces the likelihood of pasture overgrazing, which may be prone to erosion or weed infestation.

PRACTICAL ADDITIVE CARRIER

QLF Ignite supplements can improve intake and digestion of low quality forages while also delivering select additives throughout the feed. In grazing situations, delivery of feed additives allows producers to take advantage of the benefits they offer without having to handle cattle, invest additional time and labor, or inventory additional additives.

COST EFFECTIVE SUPPLEMENT CHOICE

Properly positioned QLF Ignite supplements can offer a positive return on their feed investment. QLF Ignite supplements deliver value, balanced nutrition, and ultimate convenience for the cow/calf producer.
